Koen Schoon, Eva Maricau : 300 Honeymoons Around the World before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised 300 Honeymoons Around the World:

When the author came home from a wonderful trip through Australia, New Zealand and Fiji in 2005, he waited for his girlfriend Eva to finish her final year of internship in Africa. Both were very enthusiastic about their travel experiences and were irrevocably infected with the travel bug so the decision to go on a world tour was quickly made. They spent three years preparing, mapping, and dreaming about distant, unreachable locations and places until they decided to marry and link their honeymoon to their world tour. Then, it happened. On July 19, 2008, Koen married Eve. Two weeks later on the plane, they started a travelogue filled with lots of unexpected events, hilarious situations and improbable occurrences that will take you in an unforgettable journey around the world. Koen is a 28-year old man from East Fleming who works as a representative in Ghent. Eva is a 25-year old West Flanders who teaches mathematics in Gistel. They have been married a little over a year. Together, they share one passion: traveling. In order to share their experiences and to convince future world travelers to follow their dreams, they have written down their experiences during their 300 days of honeymooning around the world.
