before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised 40,000 Miles Around the World: A Personal Narrative of the Experiences and Impressions of an Energetic Traveller Who Crossed the Equator and the Arctic Circle in the Tour (Classic Reprint):

Excerpt from 40,000 Miles Around the World: A Personal Narrative of the Experiences and Impressions of an Energetic Traveller Who Crossed the Equator and the Arctic Circle in the Tour It was written mostly from memory and during odd hours, and I hope the many inaccuracies will be pardoned. I dedicated the book to Mr. Frank Clark, for the simple reason it all was made possible only through him to have such a fine time, and see so much in such an easy and comfortable manner and at a low cost. He accomplished something that has never been done before though it has been tried many times, and spared no expense to give his passengers tourists an enjoyable time as far as lay within his power. Had I known what the task would be before I began, I would never have started the story. But have tried to accomplish something despite the many difficulties that have arisen and trust it will be interesting, and appreciated for what it is worth.
