Following his "Fifty Best Routes on Scottish Mountains", offering a wide-ranging exploration of the Highlands of Scotland, Ralph Storer has selected another 50 circular routes, Each one is accessible by road and traverses a mountain of over 2000 feet. The Highlands possess an almost limitless challenge to walkers and climbers, a challenge easily obscured by obsessive Munro-bagging. Not all the routes in this book take in a Munro, but each has been chosen to highlight an enticing aspect of the Highlands. The routes are all described and illustrated with maps and photographs, and the choice ranges from gentle strolls to testing scrambles.
