A bike, A summer, A journey is about my five weeks of travel on a recumbent bicycle from the Columbia Basin area of Washington to Albuquerque New Mexico. Always wanted to do a bike trip. Had one planned in my mind, and then onto paper for a number of year. This summer was the summer to see it all through. I wrote this for myself as a remembrance of the summer travels. Sure, I have it all on the computer with pics. Yet, there is something about having it all put into a book form that excites me. I could have filled it out more but I did not want to delete from or add to what I had written on the journey. These are quite simply all my journal entries that I posted onto the blog site. pedalsforpng.blogspot.com So whoever reads this book, keep that in mind. Stories grow louder and spread further when written or spoken to the world and not kept hidden for one's own pleasure. Enjoy the journey with me. David
