to listen to in my 17-18 year old Toyota (has a cassette player). So far I have only been listening to the first one over the past few weeks since repetition is so key to learning. Altogether there are six tapes and I look forward to listening to them all. I am using various other tools to learn Spanish as well. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Living Language All Audio Really ROCKS as a Review of Spanish! By Crickett I started out using the (now defunct) Microsoft Spanish utilizing computer guided instruction. I then supplemented this with Living Language's All Audio Spanish for use while I was in the car or out for a walk, etc. Later I got the Pimsleur series. Having stated the above, THIS is the order I would choose to do these courses in: 1) Pimsleur Speak, Think and Understand Essential Spanish I, II and III Pimsleur really is the best course I've ever used. Monotonous, but REALLY good, especially for beginners. ** While using the Pimsleur course II or III, I would suggest adding Living Languages All Audio in order to mix it up a little. But, if that confuses you, I would leave the Living Language course for AFTER the Pimsleur course. 2) I would then get the Living Language Spanish Verbs course. I can't really recommend the Living Language course unless you already have some background and/or have taken the Pimsleur. As other reviewers have stated, the pace is somewhat fast for a true beginner. But this is still a very good course and I feel is time well spent learning a foreign language. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Tauno Good
