

Gaia's Sacred Chakras

Margaret Bertulli

**Download PDF / ePub / DOC / audiobook / ebooks*

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

#6012206 in Books Trafford Publishing 2004-04-06 2006-07-06 Original language: English PDF # 1 10.00 x .21 x 8.00l, #File Name: 141201275990 pages | File size: 70.Mb

Margaret Bertulli : Gaia's Sacred Chakras before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Gaia's Sacred Chakras:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Travels to Sacred Places By Janet Gamache Gaia's Sacred Chakras by Margaret Bertulli is a moving account of her exploration of seven sacred sites and the chakras she associates with these places of healing. An archaeologist who has previously studied cultural sites and artefacts from an objective point of view, Bertulli's subjective experience is enriched by her knowledge of these awe-inspiring destinations. At a time when mankind's relationship with, perhaps survival on, this planet has become of increasing concern, Bertulli's ability to find meaning, to find healing, in a two-way communion with our home is a source of hope. 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Personal relation between seven sacred places and the chakras By Mirela Faur The relation between sacred places and human chakras is very personal, as there may be different associations according with the individual concepts and spiritual connection. The book is interesting, well written, with detailed descriptions and historical information, in spite of being very resumed. The meditations are very beautiful and can help people to get in touch with the energies of these seven sacred sites even without knowing them on material level. Recommended for spiritual pilgrims and seekers.

That Gaia, the Earth, lives is ancient knowledge transmitted from a time in the distant past when humans existed in and celebrated nature. We meet Gaia in the land and the landscape is where we exist. This book relates Gaian and human bodies by exploring the relation of sacred sites to chakras with poetry and guided meditations.

About the Author Margaret Bertulli has lived in Northern Canada for the past twenty years and has travelled throughout the Arctic and Subarctic, living and working in small communities in a multicultural setting. She has two Master's degrees in Anthropology and Creation Spirituality and is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. She lives in Yellowknife, Northwest Territories, Canada.