Masochistic map makerBy fitness nutThe most important thing about a map is its legibility, and this map, with its light gray lettering, is very difficult to read. But even more annoying is that "north" is not "up" on the map. West is up. Of course, you can turn the map, but then you can't read the already hard to see lettering. Plus trying to find destinations on this map shown on the map in my guide book is very confusing and frustrating. Whose idea was this? Quito is essentially a north to south oriented city. Do not buy this map!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. All the detail needed for a Galapagos visitBy Corin AndersonThis map contained all the details I needed for a two-week motor-sailing trip around the Galapagos. Every anchorage and beach we visited was identified -- including some obscure minor islands or rocks. The map folds out to nearly 30"x40" -- the right size for spreading out on the table to review each day's activities.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I liked that it is made from thin plastic- won't rip or be damaged by water. I didn't like all the pictures of animals and other things on the map- kind of distracting and cheezy looking.

This is the 2012 edi of Galapagos Island Map. Galapagos and Guayaquil city in one side, Quito in other side. Printed in plastic paper.
