Adventures for People over 50 By Terri Merritts I really like this book the most for the variety of travel, educational, and volunteer information it contains for people over 50. There are some unusual options here for various groups of people including adventure travelers, lifelong learners, and even people with good dance skills. For the latter group, the men get info and sites to go to where they can receive free or cheap ($25 a day) luxury cruises to exotic locales on cruise lines we all know of. The men act as "gentleman hosts" and get paid for dancing with the ladies, socializing, escorting the ladies on shore excursions, hosting dinner tables, and playing games- all things they would be glad to do anyway. They get a free cruise, cabin, and meals with maybe a $25 a day processing fee. Ladies aren't left out- we can go on the same ships as entertainers or lecturers (this doesn't require a degree- just need to know about the subject). Great adventures is part of the title and they are not kidding. No one reading this book will be lazing life away in a rocking chair. After 50 is when the real adventures begin. 4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Book is almost old enough to buy beer By Autoteacher 1994 edition of outdated information and stuff you can find in an AARP mag or google. Enjoyed looking through this book-- there are some good tips for senior savings you might not have thought of. I'm sure I'll use it next time I travel(plane fares, hotel discounts, restaurants, etc., plus there's a great section on senior volunteer opportunities, and another on helpful senior organizations

Now in its 12th completely revised and updated edition, this proven bestseller is jam-packed with more information than ever about trips, discounts, clubs, programs, and special travel-related perks for the over-50 population. Includes amazing bargains such as discount airline, train, and bus fares; hotel accommodations and car rentals; as well as worldwide grandparent-grandchild vacations and tours for mature singles. Plus there are good deals on tennis camps, golf vacations, and ski programs; bike trips; walking tours; and adventure trips especially for mature travelers.-- More than 800,000 copies of previous editions sold to date-- Targets the fastest-growing popcorn in the country -- one baby boomer turns 50 every 7.6 seconds-- The first book of its kind and the best-known guide for seniors

.com One American turns 50 every 7.6 seconds, and here's a book that caters to the pocketbooks of this ever-increasing traveling population. "Ten years ago when I wrote the first edition of Unbelievably Good Deals, active vacation and adventure trips were seldom offered to mature travelers," says author Joan Heilman. "Today, however, these readers, especially baby boomers who've just turned 50, are looking for action, and the book reflects that trend." This complete compendium for senior discounts includes special offers for adventure travel; lifetime admission tickets to national parks; airfare specials; up to 50 percent off on hotels and restaurants; discounts for golf, tennis, and ski vacations; and trips, clubs and matchmaking services for singles. The book also offers advice on how to beat the cost of car rentals; save money on train, bus, and boat fares; find thrifty alternative lodgings all over the world; uncover the best shopping values; discover volunteering opportunities; and get the lowdown on going back to school. The last chapter provides an overview of organizations for people over 50 and what they can offer, or what you can offer them. As the author points out, "When you consider that there are more people in this country over the age of 55 than there are children in elementary and high schools, you can see why we have powerful potential to influence what goes on around here." --Kathryn True Great trips for the over-50 crowd interested in money-saving travel, from clubs and package programs to real adventure travel. -- Midwest Book Scores of reasons to never deny your age. -- Newsweek The most complete compendium of discounts for those of mature age. -- World News Features Those who fill the bill will find this trove of packages, discounts, and special tours invaluable. -- Travel and Leisure From the Back Cover Planning a trip, going back to school, looking for adventure? Well, have we got a deal for you! If you're over 50, you qualify for outrageous breaks, benefits, and money-saving offers. This bestselling guide, now in its 13th edition, is extensively revised year after year so that you'll never miss out on exciting discounts and special perks, including: *Travel adventures, from whitewater rafting on the Salmon River to cycling in France to sea kayaking in New Zealand *Terrific price breaks on airfares all over the world *Over-50 discounts at hotels, motels, and restaurants *Tennis camps, golf vacations, ski clubs, bike trips, and walking tours *Trips and clubs for singles *Significant breaks on automobile and homeowner's insurance *College education for free--or almost free *Big discounts on trains, buses, and car rentals *And much, much more
