

[FREE] We're Sailing To Galapagos (Travel the World)

We're Sailing To Galapagos (Travel the World)

Laurie Krebs

ebooks | Download PDF | *ePub | DOC | audiobook

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#1039767 in Books Barefoot Books 2005-02-28 Original language: English PDF # 1 .41 x 10.36 x 10.021, 1.01 #File Name: 184148902632 pages | File size: 16.Mb

Laurie Krebs : We're Sailing To Galapagos (Travel the World) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised We're Sailing To Galapagos (Travel the World):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I love, love love this seriesBy Nereida ThompsonI love, love love this series! I use the different books in this series to add some dash to our factual information. The book is easy enough for the children to read on their own. It highlights areas of geography, we are learning about in a fun way.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great kids book.By Ernest SilvaI like the book. Very entrtraining for the kids. Great illustrations and there is a section that describes the places. I will continue to buy these books. Highly recommended.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great kids book for the GalapagosBy Richard H. FrohardtA great book for the children going to the Galapagos. It really gives them some idea. Buy it for any younger kids

Tour the Galapagos Islands in a red-sailed boat and encounter many exotic land and sea animals, like giant tortoises, albatrosses, iguanas, lava crabs and booby birds! This rhyming story, which also teaches the days of the week, also includes fascinating facts on Charles Darwin, the Islands and the animals that live there.

From School Library JournalPreSchool-Grade 3A colorfully garbed couple take readers on a jaunty journey to the Galapagos Islands. For each day of the week, the rhymed text introduces one of the islands' unique animals. The repetition of the chorus "We're sailing to Galapagos. I wonder who we'll see" encourages audience participation. The bright collages create striking vistas that will also enhance group sharing. The youngest listeners will enjoy the visit to giant tortoises, black iguanas, and blue-footed boobies before they sail home. Older readers can learn more about the animals and Charles Darwin's famous exploration by perusing the informative entries following the rhyming section. Krebs offers an excellent introduction to a unique set of islands and some of its rare inhabitants. For a complementary choice that considers a single species, consider Francine Jacobs's Lonesome George, the Giant Tortoise (Walker, 2003). Kathy Piehl, Minnesota State University, Mankato Copyright Reed Business Information, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

About the Author Laurie Krebs is a seasoned traveller and former teacher from Connecticut, USA. A mother of four grown children, she seeks to expose young people to a variety of different cultures and environments through her writing. Laurie's previous title with Barefoot books was the very successful We All Went on Safari, which was selected as one of Scholastic's "Best Books" for 2003, and was a Practical Pre-School Gold Award Winner (2003). Grazia Restelli was born in the province of Milan, and studied at the Academy of Fine Art in Brera. She graduated in sceneography, and in 1992 took a course in illustration at the Academy of Communication Studies in Milan. Her works have been shown in exhibitions all over Italy, and she has illustrated several books for Italian publishers. We're Sailing to Galapagos is her first title for Barefoot Books.