About the time my 10 year old asked me what the capital of London was, I started shopping for maps. Because the world changes so rapidly now, I decided to order maps large enough for a 6 and 10 year old to look at and comprehend, but cheap enough to be replaced once the borders of various countries are re-done. The positives - this map is correct, it's large (we tacked them up in the hallway to the kids' rooms) and it's very colorful, which is good for 6 year olds. The negatives - it's not laminated, now if I was buying this for myself that would be fine, but the paper is also some strange form of paper that attracts and holds small sticky fingerprints. Being maps, little fingers are naturally attracted like magnets. If you are making the purchase for an adult or a classroom, or if you intend to frame it, then I highly recommend this map. If you are buying for little ones, I'd spend the extra money to get a laminated version. One last note - if you purchase from , they are not particularly well packed. They put them in a tube that is too large for the map so it bangs around and the ends get a bit bent up. Also they don't tape the ends of the tube so I had to have a second one sent after my first tube arrived empty and without ends on it. 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. I would have bought it at a higher price too (also- surprisingly colorful!)By Tiger SvThis is a great map and not just because of its price. I was looking for a map that was updated, large, and colorful. And that's exactly what I got. I actually like the fact that the map is not the paper typically used for posters (it feels more like printer paper) because there isn't a glare effect from light; useful because I'd rather not have to shift, twist, and turn just to read it. Also, the quality doesn't strike me as being any lower. You can always laminate it as well- we have a similar map that is laminated and (if you don't mind the glare) it looks very, very nice. I have to reiterate how colorful this map is! A good buy for anyone, especially those who will use it fairly often and beyond "decoration." 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great world map!By BusyMommaThis is a great, current world map. We bought the map pins to go with this and it has become a great conversation piece in our house when visitors come and see where we have visited. The colors are bright and with all the names written it is perfect. I saw a few cheaper world maps on here () but after reading reviews I chose this one even though it was a little more expensive and am glad I did. The accuracy of current boundaries, the bright colors, the size of the map and the clear writing makes this map perfect.

Staying up to date with world events and constantly changing political boundaries is easy with Rand McNally's World Wall Map (Measures: 50" x 32"). This rolled wall map changes as the world does, and constant updates and reprints assure you the most accurate information available. Features include: Gall Stereographic projection, which shows countries and continents truer to their relative size Map centered on Africa allowing viewers to see continents complete and intact Color-matching relief to show mountain ranges and other elevation changes Clearly labeled country and city names for easy location Latitude and longitude indications Compact rolled size for easy storage when not on the wall This eye-catching wall map's combination of bold colors and detailed cartography make it a handy reference piece that's sure to stand out in any home, classroom, or office. This map looks great framed, too!
